

Contribution and Expenditure Activity To Qualify 2010 Initiatives to the People

- About 75 Initiatives to the People were filed with the Washington Secretary of State's Office during the spring of 2010.
- 59 initiatives were assigned numbers for the 2010 election; initiative numbers are not assigned until the proposal has been reviewed by the Washington State Code Reviser and the sponsor has submitted the final language of the proposed initiative.
- The deadline to submit qualifying signature petitions for a statewide initiative was July 2, 2010. By that date, six initiative sponsors had filed signatures with the Secretary of State that appear likely to qualify their propositions for the November 2, 2010 general election ballot.
- Twelve political committees registered with the Public Disclosure Commission to support or oppose these six initiatives. In addition, four committees registered to support or oppose three initiatives that did not submit sufficient signatures by the July 2, 2010 deadline.
- As of mid-July, $10,445,928 had been raised, and $9,132,551 spent, to support 2010 statewide initiatives. Of these expenditures, $6,782,748 were for signature gathering.

Of the six initiatives that submitted qualifying signatures with the Secretary of State, many were backed by large institutional contributors such as corporations, unions, and trade associations, located both inside and outside of Washington State.

The presentation that follows will provide highlights of the campaigns to qualify 2010 initiatives.
